“ To the Wise, Sr. Family:

I am deeply sorry that you have lost your dear loved one. Yet many wonder during this difficult time how will you cope and make it through. No doubt this is the same feelings you are having. Yet because we have a dear and loving heavenly Father that can comfort us, we must rely on him for comfort and support. One way is by means of prayer. Prayer helps God to see that you are putting your trust in him to help you endure your grief. (Psalms 55:22)

Another way we show we rely on our heavenly Father is to trust in his Word that he will do what he says. At John 5:28,29 the Bible tells us that he will 'resurrect all those in the memorial tombs.'

So when you are able, please read about how this will be done because Jesus alluded to it in John Chapter 11 of the Bible.
