“ Kurt, Brad,
I was with sadness that I read of the passing of your mother. She was a good person and as I recall, a strong supporter of St Mike's events. If you remember, I taught Science there from 1975-1979.

I have a lot of fond memories from those days and both your mother and father were active participants. I do recall an event at the 8th grade picnic at Cook's Forest, was that you Kurt who lost your glasses? I was one of the chaperones and I remember searching the river bottom and not being able to locate them. I think you might have been in the dog house for a while after that, but your mom smiled as she related the story to me many years later when I saw her at L&R.

It is always difficult to lose a loved one and comforting words are hard to find. But let me leave you with a phrase I have come to appreciate since it sums it up so nicely:

Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal. ~ Anonymous

“ I was so sad to hear of Aunt Noni's passing. Although I hadn't seen her in a long time, I will never forget visiting when I was little. She was always so kind, I will never forget the hummingbirds I loved watching on her front porch. I love and will miss you Aunt Noni.

“ Noni has been my neighbor since I moved here almost 34 yrs. ago. There was no one else like her. She was always there to help anyone. Way back when I was pregnant with my first baby, I read all these books and was not going to give her sugar and was going to make all my own babyfood. Noni said I'll have the perfect baby, haha. Well when Emily was 3 months old I was at Noni's making Christmas cookies. ( I still use the 2 receipes she gave me) Anyway she gave Emily little bites of the Christmas cookie. I said Noni, your giving sugar to my perfect baby. She laughed and said "well a little won't hurt her". I always told Emily Noni gave her her first cookie. Last fall we started reading books. She would check them out and read them then give them to me to read. I was just thinking I haven't read any books for a couple of months and wondered if she had anymore. Noni was always out in her back yard which was joined to mine, she would be out there in her garden or hanging up clothes. I just looked out into the back yard now and it will never never be the same. I'm really going to miss her but I know she is in Heaven and we will get to see her again later.
